Basically, your introductory paragraph should first capture your reader's attention, then give them a broad overview of your topic, leading to your thesis statement.

Given your instructor's efforts, it helps to answer the question: What is my purpose in describing this assignment, placing your topic in context?

Investing some time in planning can help ensure that your thesis statement is clear and focused. The thesis statement is one of the most important pieces of an essay, if not the most important piece, and is often used to guide the overall structure of your writing.

The thesis statement may provide a clue by using different methods, such as citing a book (Stubbs, describe, Barnet, and Cain, example). How much do these writing services who say that after finding out can help you?

Describe the topic in detail, including its significance and relevance to your audience. Your thesis statement should reflect your main argument or claim, and be supported by evidence and examples from your research.
